tin), born April 18, 1842, in Savannah, Ga., was married October 5, 1871, by Bishop Robert Elliott, of Texas, to Belle George Devries, born April 5, 1847, in Baltimore, daughter of William and Martha (George) Devries. By occupation he was a lawyer, in politics a Democrat, and in religion a Presbyterian. They resided in Baltimore, Md. Mr. Goodwin was State senator and surveyor of the port of Baltimore. Charles Ridgely Goodwin died at 900 St. Paul street, Baltimore, May 19, 1894. Children: i. Elizabeth Taylor, born July 24, 1872, married Charles Ellet Rieman; ii. William Devries, born September 14, 1874.

Elizabeth Taylor Goodwin (Charles Ridgely, Robert Morris, Lyde, Lyde, Austin), born July 24, 1872, in Baltimore, was married February 8, 1899, at Baltimore, to Charles Ellet Rieman. It is to Mrs. Rieman, since her father's death in 1894, that the Goodwins of Baltimore owe thanks for assistance rendered in compiling the family records.

Ann Goodwin (Austin), born in England, married John Dixon. He was a "Virginia merchant" and therefore it is supposed he lived in Virginia. Child: i. Susanna, married her cousin Henry Goodwin.

THE GOODWINS OF ATLANTA, GEORGIA.

Henry Goodwin is said, according to the statement of one descendant, to have been the ancestor of this family, none of the others ever having heard his name. He was born in Virginia, according to this account, married and removed about 1770 to South Carolina. The only Henry Goodwin of this generation in this part of America, so far as I have been able to ascertain, is the Henry Goodwin of the Baltimore, Md., Goodwins. Another account is that this man, whether his name was Henry or not, was born in Wales as were his children. I can get no certain data concerning him. Children: i. John, born 1761 or 1762, married Nancy Grey; ii. Jesse, thought not to have married; iii. Ruth, married —— Clark, and descendants untraced; iv. Elizabeth, married —— Box, and descendants untraced.

John Goodwin (Henry) was born in 1761 or 1762 in Virginia or in Wales, the latter being most strongly asserted, and was married to Nancy Grey, who was born in Virginia. By occupation he was a farmer, in politics a Democrat and in religion a Baptist. They resided in Virginia, then in South Carolina, removing to Kentucky, where they resided near Franklin. They eventually removed to DeKalb county, Ga., settling about eight miles from Atlanta. Mr. Goodwin was about fifteen at the commencement of the revolutionary war and was then living in South Carolina. He died November 11, 1853 in Powder Springs, Cobb county, Ga. His widow died in Cross Keys, DeKalb county, Ga., in 1825 or 1826. Children: i. James, married Polly Heard; ii. John, married Lucinda Sharp, and resided in Tennessee; iii. Neal, married Susan Jett, and settled in Illinois; iv. Micajah, married Elizabeth Heard; v. Jesse, died in youth, but another account says he moved to Missouri; vi. William Iverson, was killed in the war of ——— or died in Arkansas; vii. Madison, died in youth; viii. Charles Baker, born in 1812, married Mahala Kemp; ix. Joel, born January 20, 1817, married Irene Kite; x. Rachel, married, first, —— Chambers, second, Joel Babb; xi. Narcissa, married John Babb; xii. Williamson Harvey, born August 15, 1825, married Lucinda Page.

James Goodwin (John, Henry), born in Metcalf county, Ky., married Polly Heard. Children: i. Robert; ii. John; iii. James; iv. William; v. Samuel; vi. Marshall.

Robert Goodwin (James, John, Henry), born in Barren county, Ky. Child: i. James R.

James R. Goodwin (Robert, James, John, Henry) married ——. They resided in Glenburn, Vermilion county, Ill., in 1892.

Charles Baker Goodwin (John, Henry), born 1812, in Kentucky, was married 1839 in Cobb county, Ga., to Mahala Kemp, was born in 1814, daughter of Solomon and Clara (Benson) Kemp. By occupation he was a farmer, in politics a Whig, and in religion a Baptist. They resided in Cobb county, Ga., where Mr. Goodwin died in 1864. His widow died in 1872. Children: i. Nerissa, born 1841, married William Levell; ii. John Solomon, born 1843, married Lucinda Williams; iii. William Iverson, born 1845, married Louisa Ann Bennett; iv. Joseph Henry, born 1847, married Mattie Osborn; v. Veston Lee, born 1849, married Julia Levell.

John Solomon Goodwin (Charles Baker, John, Henry), born 1843, married Lucinda Williams. He resided (1896) in Georgia. They have two sons, names not furnished.

William Iverson Goodwin (Charles Baker, John Henry), born 1845 in Cobb county, Ga., was married in 1866 in Cobb county, to Louisa Ann Bennett, born 1836 in Cobb county, daughter of Hiram and Frances (Kemp) Bennett. By occupation he was a farmer, in politics a Democrat, and in religion a Baptist. They resided (1899) in Acworth, Ga. Mr. Goodwin has contributed very much of the data of this family. Children: i. Walter, born 1870; ii. Hiram, born 1872, residing in Atlanta; iii. Mark, born 1877, residing in Atlanta.

Joel Goodwin (John, Henry), born January 20, 1817, in Franklin, Ky., was married December 1, 1840, in Heard county, Ga., to Irene Kite, born August 15, 1824, in Stone Mountain, Ga., daughter of David and Cynthia ( ) Kite. By occupation he was a shoemaker and preacher, in politics a Democrat, and in religion a Baptist. They resided in Kingston, Ga., where Joel Goodwin died April 8, 1886. His widow resides (1899) in Kingston with her son Charles Mason, and has furnished much of the history of this family. Joel Goodwin died April 8, 1886, at Kingston, Ga. Children: i. Elizabeth Cynthia, born October 12, 1840, married —— Shoemaker; ii. Williamson Mason, born April 2, 1842, killed in the army, unmarried; iii. Nancy Clementine, born May 27, 1844, married —— Rees; iv.
